$2,400 FOR ONE EGG — Identified only as Mr. Radcliffe, an agent for an anonymous purchaser inspects a very rare semi-fossilized egg of the extinct bird Aepyornis, for which he paid $2,400 during an auction at Sotheby's in London. Experts believe the egg was laid about 1 million years ago in Madagascar, Malagasy Republic.

Ohio Assembly Gets 1st Gilligan Bills This Week

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. John J. Gilligan starts the administration's legislative ball rolling this week with introduction of bills to aid the unemployed and to establish an ethics code for public officials.

The packages are the first major legislation to be forwarded to the 109th General Assembly by Gilligan since he took office in January.

The only administration-backed measure offered so far would divide the Department of Mental Hygiene and Correction into two divisions.

More legislative proposals from the Gilligan administration are expected to follow the governor's budget message to the General Assembly next Monday. Gilligan Sunday unveiled "a sweeping legislative package calculated to help working Ohioans when they are unemployed or injured as a result of their jobs."

The proposals were prepared by Ohio Bureau of Employment Services Administrator William E. Gurnes and Bureau of Workman's Compensation Adminis-

Postal Strike In Britain Finally Ends

LONDON (AP)—Less than half of Britain's post offices reopened today after the system's workers voted overwhelmingly to end their costly 47-day walk-out.

Postal chiefs appealed to the public to hold back all but urgent mail for a few days so they could clear the backlog of 11 million letters, plus another 60 million piled up in foreign countries. They said service might not be back to normal until the end of next week.

U.S. postal officials in Washington said the embargo they put on all mail for Britain at the start of the strike might be lifted today.

About 1,000 of the 1,700 main post offices did not reopen today because their staffs had to be trained in the new decimal system for money and stamps that came into effect during the strike. Limited deliveries of first-class mail were expected today, but second-class letters will not be handled until the backlog is cleared.

International telephone services requiring operator assistance and rural exchanges with operators were expected to be back to normal within a few hours. But all pay phones won't be available until full coin boxes are emptied.

Telegraph service resumed Tuesday. More than 190,000 of the 205,000 members of the postal workers' union voted to go back to work, leaving the fate of their pay demand in the hands of a three-man commission. The vote by union branches was 1,059 to 61.

Fronts Calm As Mideast Truce Ends

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The war fronts between Israel and the Arabs were quiet today despite Egypt's refusal to proclaim an extension of the cease-fire.

A military spokesman in Tel Aviv said there was no fighting along the 103-mile Suez Canal. Journalists were barred from the area, but there were no indications hostilities would resume.

Israel had expressed willingness to extend the truce indefinitely. But Egyptian President Anwar Sadat announced hours before the deadline that his forces no longer would be bound by the cease-fire which first took effect last August. It expired at midnight Sunday.

The armed forces of Egypt, Jordan and Syria went on alert. There was no record on Israel's military readiness, but observers assumed the army was on combat alert at the canal and on other fronts.

Blacks Protest At Boards Of Education

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The State Office Building was evacuated because of a bomb threat today after an estimated 800 black demonstrators disrupted a State Board of Education meeting there.

Some minor damage occurred. Black demonstrators who left the state and city education facilities roamed the downtown business district causing minor damage. A display window was broken at a variety store.

Police broke up groups of demonstrators as they formed. At one point police chased a group of young blacks through a hotel lobby.

Demonstrators left education offices after they gained agreements at both the state and city level for review of complaints about school policies.

A spokesman for the demonstrators earlier issued a five-point complaint and a demand for black control of administration at predominantly black public schools.

City police said several hundred persons marched from the state building toward the City Board of Education offices six blocks away.

The demonstration had formed earlier in the day at the city education offices.

It had been announced as a special protest against treatment of black students involved in disruption at several city schools in the past two weeks. Demonstrators marched at several predominantly black public schools last week after disruptions caused officials to close one school for a day.

The demonstrators jammed a State Board of Education meeting room and ordered all newsmen to leave. One hundred or more demonstrators roamed the halls of the State Office Building.

One toilet was torn out on the first floor and others stopped up, flooding the area. Water ran along a hallway outside the board of education meeting room.

On the sixth floor, a window was broken, office equipment upset and toilets jammed.

Most of the demonstrators were in their late teens or early 20s.

Several armed blacks who said they represented the east side community appeared to be in charge of state education offices on the sixth floor. They permitted newsmen on the floor but ordered that no one take pictures.

East Pakistan's political leader, Sheikh Mujibur Rahman, and his Awami League are locked in a struggle with the nation's military president, Gen. Agha Mohammed Yahya Khan, and the West Pakistanis who dominate the central government and the Army.

After a week of protest strikes and violence in which at least 173 East Pakistanis were killed and 338 wounded, Sheikh Mujib at a mass meeting in Dacca Sunday ordered a civil disobedience campaign to force Yahya Khan to lift martial law and return the army to its barracks.

The shik, who has a majority in the new national assembly, also said his party would boycott the assembly opening March 25 unless martial law is ended. But he said the Awamis would attend the session if the troops are withdrawn.

Police said the Saturday night fight broke out between 150 to 200 members of the Breed, a new group seeking recognition in Ohio and based in Akron,

Viets Seize Vital Junctions On Ho Trail Inside Laos

Viet Pullout Plans Spur Debates

by LEWIS GULICK Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's announcement next month of further troop withdrawals from Vietnam is likely to spur an already growing debate over what U.S. forces—if any—should remain for an indefinite period after 1972.

Nixon's announcement is expected to span several months of troop pullouts. As of a week ago official records indicated 326,200 U.S. troops were in Vietnam.

With U.S. forces in South Vietnam expected by defense officials to be down by nearly 100,000 over the next six months, and assuming subsequent withdrawals continue at their current rate of 12,000 a month, the number remaining by the end of next year would be under 50,000.

This falls within the general number of American troops many U.S. government experts envision as needed for an indeterminate period as the Saigon government moves toward self-sufficiency.

They say such a residual force is necessary not for ground combat-sizeable American action on the ground is already largely over—but for advising, training and to provide some logistics support.

The opposing view, expressed publicly by critics of Nixon's Vietnam policy, is that all U.S. troops should be brought home as quickly as possible. Keeping any troops there, they say, would only perpetuate a bad U.S. involvement.

Nixon so far has avoided a public commitment to any specific timetable for total withdrawal of American forces.

On the one hand he has said several times "our goal is to get all Americans out of Vietnam as soon as we can."

On the other, he says, "We will have to maintain a residual force in South Vietnam" as long as the North holds U.S. prisoners of war. He says this force is needed as a bargaining tool for prisoner release but has not discussed publicly what else it might be used for.

Several factors seem likely to loom significantly in Nixon's decision making in coming months:

—What military pressure the enemy mounts and how the South Vietnamese cope. The Laos-Cambodia operations fall in this category.

—The results of next October's South Vietnamese election. U.S. officials generally rate re-election of incumbent President Nguyen Van Thieu as the only outcome which would avoid the risk of derailing the Vietnamization program.

—Nixon's judgment, as the 1972 U.S. campaign develops, on how limited the American public wants any further U.S. involvement in Vietnam.

Gilligan Pushes Pay Increases

State Workers Also Eye Fringes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. John J. Gilligan today announced proposals for state employees pay increases totaling $166.8 million over the next two fiscal years, starting July 1.

Principal feature of the pay package is a 16 per cent across-the-board raise for state workers.

Gilligan called the pay increases "essential if we are to be able to build in Ohio an even larger corps of dedicated, competent public servants."

He said the package would help put Ohio employees "onto an even keel with workers in other governmental jurisdictions and even, in some cases, with private industry."

In addition to the 16 per cent hike, the Gilligan proposal provides for:

—Automatic cost-of-living increases beginning in fiscal 1973 with a maximum increase of 5 per cent a year.

—Life insurance policies for all Ohio workers in the amount of one and a half times the employee's annual salary.

—Conversion of accrued sick leave upon retirement to cash at 25 per cent of its full value.

—Increased pay range for 200 job classes.

The entire package would cost $75.8 million in fiscal 1972 and $91 million in fiscal 1973.

The life insurance provision would account for $7.7 million of the total for the biennium and the cost-of-living increases for $12.5 million during fiscal 1973 alone.

Gilligan said Ohio pay scales were compared with those of eight neighboring states, six Ohio cities, and figures from business and the U. S. Civil Service Commission in arriving at the 16 per cent figure for across-the-board increases.

3 Ohioans Charged After Drug Raid

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)—Three Ohioans are among six Florida State students facing narcotics charges following a police raid Friday night on a house trailer near the campus.

Timothy Sali, 19, of Mount Vernon was charged with possession of LSD. Nick Carter, 20, of Salem and James Meyer, 21, of Cleveland were cited for possessing marijuana. Those arrested also included Scott Carswell, son of former federal Judge G. Harold CNarswell, whose nomination for the U.S. Supreme Court was rejected by the Senate last year.

Proxmire Lashes Military Aid As 'Out Of Control'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., charged today the foreign military aid program is "unmanaged and out of control" and should be cut back and run by civilians.

In a bill introduced today Proxmire, one of Congress' strongest critics of military spending, proposed taking the secrecy wraps off the program and putting it under the State Department.

In addition, the legislation would convert military assistance grant programs to cash or credit sales. The present grant programs run by the armed forces would be phased out over a three-year period.

"These reforms would represent an historic shift in the control and nature of our foreign military aid programs," Proxmire said in a prepared Senate speech. "Such a shift away from the military and into civilian hands is long overdue."

Proxmire, chairman of a Senate appropriations subcommittee on foreign operations, said recent congressional hearings proved the need for overhauling the program.

While the military budget includes $1.1 billion and the foreign aid budget $1.7 billion for military aid, he said, "the actual total for all programs lies somewhere between $4.5 and $7 billion."

He said stores worth millions of dollars are supplied free or at bargain prices without direct application under Food for Peace and surplus disposal programs.

Proxmire's bill would require direct appropriation of military aid funds and prohibit classifying as secret the amounts to be provided for each country.

'Garbage Children' Posing Big San Francisco Problem

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — City officials say hundreds of young people living in an assortment of homes on wheels are creating garbage and human wastes in the streets, causing concern for public health.

"First it was the 'flower children' invading the Haight-Ashbury district during the mid-1960s," said David P. Roche, head of the police department's legal affairs office. "Now we've got the 'garbage children' scattered all over the city."

They've squatted with their vans, trucks, campers, buses and cars in some of the most scenic areas near marinas, waterfronts, beaches and parks.

To combat the problem, the police and health departments will ask the San Francisco Board of Supervisors to enact a new police code section barring anyone from living in the parked vehicles between 10 p.m. and 6 a.m.

Violators would be liable to a maximum fine of $1,000 and six months in jail.

"It is aimed solely at squatters who take up residency in their vehicles on the streets, parks and other public places," Roche said.

"It would not affect legitimate tourists and families traveling in campers, trailers or autos, who usually do not camp out like gypsies in a metropolitan city," he added. "They could still come here and park while on a sight-see or visit."

A health department spokesman said the practice of squatting in vehicles began about two years ago.

"There's no garbage collection for these nomads," Roche said, "so either they just throw the stuff out for the rats or they use street receptacles, which means the city is doing their garbage collecting for them."

"None of these mobile living quarters is connected with sewer lines. Some of the better behaved people dump wastes into street sewers, with pretty disagreeable results when there is no rain for flushing."

"What we hope to encourage," Roche added, "is for people to move on to trailer parks for the night."

"We didn't know where to turn," said Patrolman Thomas Burton, who was inside the hall when the fighting began. "We just started clobbering everybody."

About 150 police converged on the scene and tear gas was used to break up the mob quickly.

Police said all of the dead and wounded were knifed victims. They said gang members also carried chains, clubs and guns.

Police identified the dead as

Bruce Emerick, 31, of Vermilion, Ohio, vice president of the Breed; Thomas A. Terry, 22, of Broadway Heights, a Cleveland suburb, a Breed member; Andrew C. Demeter, 30, of South Amboy, N.J., a Breed; Emelio Gardull, 32, Bristol, Pa., of the Hell's Angels, and Jeffrey Coffey, 22, of New York City, of the Hell's Angels.

U.S. Planes Are Credited With Success

SAIGON (AP) — The commander of South Vietnamese forces in Laos said today that his troops have seized three main junctions on the Ho Chi Minh trail and are achieving two objectives of their drive—destroying North Vietnamese bases and cutting the supply network.

Speaking to newsmen at his forward headquarters in Ham Nghi, Lt. Gen. Hoang Xuan Lam said his troops had advanced to road junctions at Ban Dong Muong Nong and Sepone.

Sepone, a main supply hub on the trail 25 miles inside Laos, was reported taken by South Vietnamese troops Saturday. Ban Dong is about halfway between the border and Sepone, on east-west Highway 9, while Muong Nong is 20 miles south of Ban Dong.

Lam said the enemy supply trail was well defended by artillery, antiaircraft batteries and engineers.

"Prior to our progress into Laos," he continued, "the trail would be repaired within hours after an air strike, but our presence there makes repair impossible."

"We also discovered a pipeline which supplied enemy convoys with fuel. There had been thousands of vehicles operating on the trail, but the presence of our troops has caused a sharp decline in vehicular traffic. Since the occupation of Sepone and Base Area 914, enemy vehicle traffic has been reduced to a minimum."

Young Sniper Wounds 3, Kills Self

ENUMCLAW, Wash. (AP) Police say a 16-year-old high school junior fired dozens of rifle bullets at cars passing his rocky hideout overlooking a highway, wounding three persons and finally killing himself with a shot in the throat.

Sheriff's deputies and State Patrol troopers swarmed around the stretch of Route 410 and blocked traffic for nearly two hours Sunday before the Seattle youth, William Herbert Egnew Jr., ended his own life.

The motive for the shootings was unknown. "I can't see any reason for it," the boy's father said.

King County sheriff's deputies said they received 18 reports of bullets striking vehicles. An ambulance attempting to reach one gunshot victim was hit three times.

Young Egnew was found behind four large boulders a few feet back from the edge of a cliff. He had a clear, unobstructed view of the highway 40 feet below.

The youth apparently used two .22-caliber rifles, one equipped with a telescope, deputies said. Shells were scattered around the site.

Wounded in the shooting were Jacques Lescan, a ski instructor at nearby Crystal Mountain, hit in one foot; Mary Pluew-narz, 31, Buckley, Wash., hit in the arm; and Eugene Tierrien, Steilacoom, Wash., whose back was creased by a bullet. None was seriously injured.

Two other persons were cut by glass from broken windshields.

Ohio Would Gain In SST Production

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ohio would stand to gain more than $3.1 billion from production of the controversial supersonic transport plane, according to a U.S. Department of Transportation study.

The report said more than 917 Ohio firms are involved in potential prototype contracts, and the number would top 1,000 if and when the plane goes into production.

Study Charges In Cleveland Cycle Gang Fight

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Cleveland Police Prosecutor Everett Chandler said he is contemplating first-degree riot and first-degree murder charges against some of the 87 motorcycle gang members arrested following a fight that left five dead and 23, including three policemen, injured.

"Since they were armed with weapons, they were anticipating something and that is first degree," said Chandler. He said charges would come within 72 hours.

Police said the Saturday night fight broke out between 150 to 200 members of the Breed, a new group seeking recognition in Ohio and based in Akron, and 30 members of the Hell's Angels.

They said the fight at the fourth annual Motorcycle Custom and Trade Show on the city's East Side was the result of a year-long feud between the two gangs.

Police said Breed members massed at 9:15 p.m. in a parking lot near the Hall of the Association of Polish Women in the U.S., where the fourth annual Motorcycle Custom and Trade Show was being held to raise money for crippled children.

They said groups of 15 to 20 Breed members then marched into the hall among 800 other persons. Patrolman Robert Baughman said the Breed members walked in "in military style, two by two."

Police confiscated weapons openly displayed and informed the police dispatchers of the buildup. Lt. Ralph Joyce, head of homicide, said about 100 of the cyclists suddenly rushed past the policemen at the door, overpowering them, and the fighting started soon after that.

Breed members gathered near three motorcycles being displayed by Hell's Angels at the show and somebody shouted "Now!" touching off the fight, police said.

"My God, I've never heard a police radio broadcast like that," said homicide detective

Louis G. Garcia when he heard a tense plea from an excited radio dispatcher: "Any available car in the city, report to E. 75th Street and Broadway."

"We didn't know where to turn," said Patrolman Thomas Burton, who was inside the hall when the fighting began. "We just started clobbering everybody."

About 150 police converged on the scene and tear gas was used to break up the mob quickly.

U.S. Planes

U.S. air support in Laos, especially the strikes by B52s and fighter-bombers in the drive on Sepone. He said 300 to 400 enemy bodies had been found and more than 30 anti-aircraft guns had been knocked out at Sepone by air strikes.

"The operation could not have been carried out without U.S. air support," Lam said.

Waves of U.S. warplanes kept up heavy attacks on the Ho Chi Minh trail today as the allied campaign in Laos began its fifth week.

A South Vietnamese communique said troops of the 1st Infantry Division sweeping five miles southeast of Sepone found the bodies of 112 North Vietnamese soldiers killed by U.S. B52 heavy bombers.

No major ground fighting was reported.

For the second consecutive day, sources said U.S. warplanes flew about 1,000 missions in Laos, Cambodia and South Vietnam. About half of the force was composed of strike aircraft, the rest were combat support aircraft.

The sources said about 300 of the strike missions were in direct support of the 20,000 South Vietnamese troops operating in southern Laos from the border to Sepone, the major enemy transshipment point 25 miles west of the border.

"There is one strike sortie by tactical planes every five minutes," said one source. He said the full force of U.S. air power was needed because the South Vietnamese troops are spread thin and do not have enough artillery.

South Vietnamese commanders claimed the allied air and ground offensive is killing 14 North Vietnamese for every South Vietnamese killed. In a summary of the first four weeks, the headquarters in Quang Tri said 6,052 North Vietnamese and 435 South Vietnamese had been killed in Laos.

Some U.S. sources said the claim appeared inflated. Others said whatever the number of enemy killed, about 40 to 50 percent of them were being slain by U.S. air strikes.

Australia Faces Crisis

CANBERRA, Australia (AP) — Defense Minister Malcolm Fraser has resigned in a government crisis prompted by reports that he was critical of the Australian army's role in Vietnam. Prime Minister John Gorton's press secretary said today.

The spokesman said the Cabinet was meeting today, without Fraser, to discuss the situation. Fraser had no comment but said he would make a statement in the House of Representatives Tuesday.

Observers said the resignation could touch off a new movement to replace Gorton as leader of the Liberal party. The prime minister denied that the chief of the army general staff told him Fraser was disloyal to the service, but he later acknowledged that he had seen before publication an Australian newspaper report to that effect.

Supporters of Fraser said he believes Gorton was trying to eliminate him as a political rival.

Two Sydney newspapers named Fraser as the source of articles that said he ordered a joint intelligence report on army pacification activities in Vietnam and that he said Australian units there were in revolt. Fraser had denied both stories.

Commissioners Seek To Have Culvert Lowered

Pickaway County Commissioners today received information indicating the State Highway Department plans to construct a 12-inch bypass under Route 188 to alleviate backup of storm water into the Northwood Park Subdivision.

Commissioners are seeking to have a culvert constructed in 1961 lowered at least two feet. They voiced the opinion today that a 12-inch bypass would not be adequate to handle storm water.

Commissioners Dick T. Tootle, Wayne Hines and Charles Morris tentatively plan to travel to District Highway headquarters in Delaware to discuss the situation.

Hall-Adkins Legion Post Plans Birthday Celebration

A birthday celebration is being planned by Hall-Adkins Post 134, American Legion, Circleville, as a part of the Legion's worldwide observance of its 52nd Anniversary, March 15-17. Post Commander MacDonald Schumm announced today.

Under the direction of a special committee, headed by Dudley G. Radcliff, the 52nd birthday of the American Legion here will be observed with a dinner-dance at 6 p.m. March 13 in the Post Home. Other members of the special birthday observance committee are: Richard McAbee, Russell Teets, Leroy Fout, Harold Hoffman, Richard Hall and Walter Pickel Jr.

The Post will be hosting their Vietnam era members, which numbers 42 and a number of public officials. Speaker for the event will be Alex J. Blair, of Jackson. A past commander of The American Legion of Ohio (1960-61), Blair completed a two-year term on the Legion's national executive committee in September 1966. He has had a continuing active interest in Legion affairs since 1946.

He was only 18 when he entered World War II service, becoming a bombardier and lieutenant, and he was only 35 when he was elected Ohio Legion commander in 1960.

Blair joined Jefferson-Hove Post No. 81 at Jackson immediately upon his return home from service and became active. He rose through the offices to commander, leading his post to an all-time high membership. He also served as a trustee, service officer and child welfare chairman, and was a founder and playing member of the drum and bugle corps.

In the eight-county Eighth District, as vice commander and commander, he led it to a new high in membership. He later was district and state Americanism chairman. As state second vice-commander, he initiated a new community service program for posts and helped set up a contest to encourage this activity.

In his home community Blair is secretary of the Soldier's Relief Commission and representative for the Legion Boy Scout troop, is active in the Highway Patrol Auxiliary and the Forty of Eight society. He is foreman in the instrument department of the Goodyear Atomic Corp., at Piketon. He lives in Jackson with his wife and five children.

The American Legion was founded March 15-17, 1919, during a caucus in Paris, France, attended by representatives of the various outfits of the American Expeditionary Force of World War I. The organization has since opened its ranks to veterans of World War II, the Korean War, and the Vietnam War, Commander Schumm explained. The local Post was started in 1920.

Jackson Urges Arms Limit; Reds Deploy New Missile

By FRED S. HOFERMAN
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., says his disclosure that Russia is deploying new long-range missiles "points up the need for an over-all agreement with the Soviet Union to limit both offensive and defensive weapons."

The Washington senator's disclosure, supported by the Defense Department, came Sunday, only a week before U.S. and Soviet negotiators return to the strategic Arms Limitation Talks in Vienna.

It also followed by three days President Nixon's clear rejection of a Soviet proposal to reach agreement covering anti-missile defense systems separately from offensive weapons.

This timing led to speculation that the Nixon administration has fed Jackson information about the new Russian missile development.

Though a Democrat and a possible Nixon opponent next year, Jackson agrees with the administration on many defense issues.

Jackson spoke of "huge new missiles" superior to and as big or bigger than the giant SS9 rocket, already considered a powerful threat to the U.S. land-based Minuteman missiles.

Jackson first spoke Sunday on the CBS radio-TV program "Face the Nation." He expanded his contention in a telephone interview after the show.

Until now, the administration took the position that it was trying to understand Moscow's slowdown in SS9 deployment. The SS9 can hurl a single warhead with the blast equivalent of 25 million tons of TNT or three separate warheads each with the explosive power of 5 million tons of TNT.

After Jackson spoke out high Defense officials said the new development could indicate the SS9 slowdown "may not be meaningful."

In his Feb. 25 State of the World message, Nixon sent up no signals indicating the Russians were pushing ahead with an advanced missile, although he did mention this among several possibilities.

A congressional source said the administration knew of the fresh Russian ICBM construction before Feb. 25. He suggested Nixon refrained from spelling this out for what were called diplomatic reasons.

Shift Hunt For Kidnaped U.S. Airmen

ANKARA, Turkey (AP) — The search for four U.S. airmen and their terrorist kidnapers shifted today to Ankara's upper-class residential districts after searchers found no clues at a local university campus.

A government spokesman said the 2,000 police and militia are working on the theory that the kidnapers are university students or graduates of middle-class background. They are assumed to be hiding with friends who sympathize with their extreme leftist views.

"They are not hiding in slums," the spokesman said. "They are hiding in some plush place. This makes the search difficult."

He said the interior minister is certain the kidnapers will be caught soon "because the net around Ankara is extremely efficient."

There was no word from the Turkish People's Liberation Army whether it had carried out its threat to put the Americans before a firing squad unless $400,000 ransom was paid by last Saturday morning, two days after the kidnapping. The Turkish government contends the terrorists are bandits and refuses to negotiate, and an American spokesman said Sunday the kidnapers had not contacted the U.S. Embassy.

The airmen are S. Sgt. Jimmie J. Sexton of San Angelo, Tex., and Airmen 1c. Richard Caraszi of Stamford, Conn.; Larry J. Heaven of Denver; and James M. Gholson of Alexandria, Va.

They had just left a U.S. Air Force radar and communications installation for their billets early Thursday when their car was stopped.

Police said all wounded motorcyclists were under arrest. Cleveland police said they arrested 63 persons and 24 others were arrested by Akron police.

Among those arrested was Michael O. Seliskar, 21, of Willovick, Ohio, who was free on bond while awaiting trial for May 2 shooting death of his father, Otto H. Seliskar. Seliskar had pleaded innocent to a charge of second-degree murder and was to appear in Painesville Municipal Court on March 22.

Steve Rudd, 20, of Akron was being held for assaulting a policeman. Police say Rudd broke the grasp of Patrolman Michael T. Dugan and threw a knife which bounced off Dugan's chest without injuring him.

The policemen injured were Patrolmen Lawrence Davis, who was treated for a stab wound in his back; Charles McNeely, who suffered a broken hand, and Joseph O'Donnell, who was bit on the finger.

Police said most of the two gangs' members came from New York, New Jersey or other eastern states. They said the Breed has 500 members but is seeking to increase its national membership.

Joyce said at least 10 other gangs were at the show but did not participate in the battle. The motorcycle show was closed after the battle.

4 Churches Fire-Bombed In Texarkana

TEXARKANA, Tex. (AP) — Two Negro Baptist churches were destroyed by flames and two others were fire-bombed over the weekend in this Texas-Arkansas border city, scene of recent racial disorder.

Two of the churches burned early Saturday with damage estimated at $375,000. One was fire-bombed later Saturday and another was the target of a fire bomb early Sunday.

Fire Marshal Ed Berbig, who said he expected a deputy state fire marshal to enter the investigation, told a newsman, "I can prove two of them were arson."

A wind-whipped blaze early Saturday destroyed the city's largest Negro church, Mount Orange Baptist. The big cinder block building was reduced to ruins and its pastor estimated damage at $200,000.

As firemen were preparing to leave the first blaze, an alarm was turned in for another fire at St. Paul Baptist Church.

The Rev. B.C. Green, pastor at St. Paul, said he and other persons heard what sounded like an explosion at the rear of the church. "The entire rear section of the church was in flames when we heard the noise," he said. He estimated damage at $175,000.

Two cruising policemen found a fire bomb burning in a pew of New Town Baptist Church.

They extinguished the blaze with hand fire extinguishers.

At Holly Chapel Baptist Church, a fire bomb Sunday morning charred the pulpit and the church Bible, then burned itself out without further damage.

Berbig said he had sent evidence in the fires to the FBI laboratory in Washington.

Racial antagonism flared in Texarkana Feb. 17 when a fight between blacks and whites began in the school cafeteria and there was a confrontation on the school grounds.

DUBLIN (AP) — Infuriated by six months wait for a telephone, a local carpet factory manager advertised for a flock of carrier pigeons to help him carry on his business — "particularly pigeons familiar with the Dublin area."

The Department of Posts and Telegraphs apologized for the delay and promised him a phone, within a month.

Campaign Spending Issue Brings Sharp Party Lineup

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate testimony so far has drawn sharp lines between well-heeled Republicans and debt-ridden Democrats on what may be one of this year's hottest political issues: How to control campaign spending.

Democratic members of the Senate Communications subcommittee and party colleagues who testified before them in a week of hearings made it clear they want strict spending limits for advertising, especially over radio and television.

The Democratic party is $9.3 million in debt. It is generally acknowledged Hubert H. Humphrey's inability to match Richard Nixon's television blitz in the waning days of the 1968 campaign contributed mightily to his defeat.

With the GOP war chest still bulging, however, Republican witnesses made it clear they think full disclosure—not ceilings—is the best route to cut spending.

The biggest question at this stage of the game is where President Nixon stands.

Last fall Nixon vetoed a bill that would have imposed a seven-cents per voter limit on broadcast spending, while also repealing the so-called equal time provision of the Federal Communications Act to permit televised debates between presidential contenders.

In his veto message, Nixon said the bill "plugs one hole in a sieve." He said spending limits should include all media not just broadcasts.

Democrats say they are skeptical any bill can get by the President. They privately indicate Nixon wishes not only to preserve the GOP's money advantage, but wants to avoid being forced to debate with his '72 Democratic opponent.

Both Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott and Sen. Robert J. Dole of Kansas, the GOP national chairman, endorsed repeal of the equal time provision during testimony.

The most sweeping measure before the subcommittee was introduced by Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield.

It provides for strict limits on media spending, full disclosure of contributions and expenditures, repeal of the equal time clause and a small tax break for political contributors.

INDUSTRIAL INJURIES
Superiority in chiropractic management of industrial back injuries has been confirmed by a survey and analysis of records of the Florida Industrial Commission (Workers' Compensation). The analysis covered 19,666 individual cases of sprains and strains of the neck, spinal column vertebrae, and back. Surgical and permanent disability cases were not included. This survey, initiated by the Florida Chiropractic Association, was carried out by the First Research Corporation, a nationally recognized and independent research organization.
The results of this survey are on file with the First Research Corporation.
Presented in the public interest for better health through chiropractic under the auspices of the Central Ohio Chiropractic Association.

Zip Mospendent

Postal officials are still a bit non-plussed about the results of a test mailing by Associated Press offices across the United States which showed the delivery time of first class mail is little affected by whether the zip code is included in the address.

Seven out of 10 letters which lacked zip codes reached their destinations at the same time or faster than other letters mailed at the same time and place to the same addressee, but including the zip code.

Another part of the same test indicated air mail may not be worth the extra four cents. Half the test letters mailed by regular mail reached their destination at the same time as others mailed air mail, and 10 per cent of the regular letters got there first.

About all postal officials could say about the results was that "in time" mechanization would make zip codes necessary. That is considerably less definite than the statements made when the postal service went numerical with much fanfare several years ago.

Major Detly Zap

Taxes become no more palatable when broken down into working time, as Tax Foundation has done, but at least the poor guy who pays them gains a better comprehension of who it is he is really working for.

Taking an income of $10,000 a year as its average, the foundation figures federal, state and local taxes this year will take about one-third the daily wage. Or, in other terms, the taxpayer will be working about two hours and 37 minutes in each eight-hour day to pay his taxes.

That makes taxes by far the single most expensive item in the family budget. In fact, the mythical average taxpayer will spend more in taxes this year than he does for food, shelter and clothing combined.

That is one version of revenue-sharing he would like to see changed, especially since this is a year for additional tax increases in many places. Taxes are rapidly approaching the take-all point.

According To Boyle

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Sewing—aside from telephoning their boy friends—is the chief hobby of U.S. teen-age girls. It also has become a $3-billion-a-year industry. Some 45 million females—and an unknown number of men—now sew at home about 690 million garments annually, two out of every five worn by women and children.

Odd claims to fame: The people who sell Volkswagens say that 180 babies have been born in their small beetle-shaped autos since they started collecting such statistics in 1964. In most cases the cars were racing the stork to the hospital.

One of America's most wasteful habits is to throw away its solid wastes. They amount to seven pounds a person daily, and experts estimate that 50 to 60 per cent of this material is cellulose which could be chemically converted into human or animal food.

Quotable notables: "If you have a dollar and I have a dollar and we exchange dollars, we each have a dollar; but, if you have a thought and I have a thought and we exchange thoughts, we each have two thoughts."—Elmer G. Letterman, master salesman.

Train before you fire: Each year more than 1,000 people die from injuries in firearms accidents outside the home. Sixteen states now make it mandatory for youngsters to take a training course in firearms safety before they can be given a hunting license.

Music that celebrities like: Tommy Short, popular supper club singer and pianist, says that Jacqueline Onassis usually asks for "I Like the Likes of You" and "I've Got Five Dollars." Lauren Bacall prefers George Gershwin tunes, and the Duke of Windsor goes for "Bye Bye Birdie."

Worth remembering: "Most girls find that the one ability they admire most in a man is availability."

It was Josh Billings who observed, "Life consists not in holding good cards but in playing those you do hold well."

You're Telling Me!

By William Ritt
Central Press Writer:

To all Navy men everywhere this anniversary should be known as "M Day," because on this date in 1862 during the Civil War the Monitor and the Merrimack fought each other — first battle ever between ironclad ships.

The two ships peppered each other with shot and shell but the old-fashioned cannonballs bounced off the two ironclads like popcorn.

Because the Merrimack withdrew from the fight the Monitor was credited with winning even if it looked like what the Rebels called it — a "Yankee cheesebox on a raft."

Recent archeological findings suggest that the ancient city of Jericho fell 22 times as result of constant warfare. Not only did Jericho's walls come tumbling down — as the old spiritual tells us — but they also must have bounced!

It's almost that time of year when people can call natural laziness "spring fever" — and get away with it.

A bull sea elephant sometimes weighs three tons — nature item. That's no elephant — more like a whale!

Honesty boxes for uncollected fares have been removed from Nottingham, England, buses because their repair cost more than the boxes collected. Seems that wasn't such a good policy, after all.

"Briggs Obedience School? What kind of a diploma mill are you running?"

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

THE CURRICULUM at most universities today is definitely not as tough as it used to be, what with the time that has to be reserved for student demonstrations and protests, a certain professor at Harvard invariably greeted his incoming Freshman classes with "Gentlemen, take a good look at the person on your right and the person on your left. Two months from now, one of you almost certainly will no longer be here!"

In the Bern, Switzerland, zoo, two adult couples of brown bears, reports John Phillips, occupy two pits separated by a brick wall. Each pit has a high tree for the bears to climb. Came a day when one male bear climbed the tree, and uttered low plaintive sobs of longing for the female bear he looked down on in the other pit. Meanwhile, the other male had climbed HIS tree to gaze mournfully at the first bear's mate.

"It's obvious," Phillips pointed out to a keeper, "that these two couples are not well matched. Why don't you change partners?"

"I do," said the keeper resignedly. "Every month!"

Mr. Hornfoot had no sooner seated himself in his habitual barber chair, when the unquenchable monologist who trimmed his locks pulled out a letter to show him. It was written by his son, serving a stretch in the Navy aboard a carrier prowling in East Asian waters. The sailor obviously was wise to his father's propensity for monologues. His letter began "Dear Dad and Customers."

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

I like your column and I really get the feeling that you understand young people like me. But I disagree with you about "grass." No one in my class at college who uses marijuana believes that you can become addicted to it. They feel as I do that it is no more dangerous than smoking cigarettes.

Mr. R.Y., III.
Dear Mr. Y.: It is comforting to know that young readers sense the faith that I have in them. I'm impressed by their courage, their vision and their desire to contribute to a better society.

I wish I were able to convey to you that I am not on a crusade against marijuana; a crusade based on "adult morality" or greater wisdom. You must believe me when I tell you that you and your fellow students are dead wrong — plain dead wrong — about the safety of this intoxicating drug.

Whether or not marijuana is addictive is a scientific problem which, before long, will be established by those who are studying its effects on laboratory animals. Until that drug's potency is definitely established, I beg you to accept the following arbitrary and dogmatic statement:

Marijuana can cause smokers to become confused, unrealistic and nonproductive. This has been proved repeatedly in healthy subjects tested at colleges and medical schools throughout the country.

Now, as to cigarettes — let me emphasize that they are undoubtedly responsible for some cancers of the lung, some cancers of the larynx, some cases of emphysema, and many circulatory disorders. This has been definitely and medically established. Why, therefore, do marijuana smokers offer the false and specious argument that marijuana is no more harmful than cigarettes? Both do damage to the body and mind in different ways. You cannot be allowed the false line of reasoning that the use of one justifies the use of the other. In either case, you are playing with dynamite.

Each morning, I wake up with extremely swollen, puffy eyes. Can eye exercises, a special diet or special surgery cure my problem? My own doctor just laughs at me.

Mrs. J. E., Calif.
Dear Mrs. E.: I doubt that any doctor would offer laughter as a solution to a cosmetic problem. You have a perfect right to know what is causing your eyes to swell, and to seek a solution. Diet and exercise will do nothing to help you. Plastic surgery is used when "bags under the eyes" are a permanent fixture and do not just happen in the morning. The possibility that you may be allergic to cosmetics, nail polish and eye make-up must be considered. Try talking to your doctor again to rule out these factors. You will find that he really has a great understanding of your needs.

Special safety devices are now available to carry young children in automobiles.

TODAY In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Today is Monday, March 8 the 67th day of 1971. There are 298 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1917, riots and strikes in St. Petersburg marked the beginning of the Russian revolution.

On this date: In 1765, the British House of Lords passed the Stamp Act to tax the American colonies.

In 1848, the American jurist, Oliver Wendell Holmes, was born in Boston.

In 1894, New York became the first state to pass a law requiring the licensing of dogs.

In 1942, in the Pacific war, Rangoon, Burma, was captured by the Japanese.

In 1961, the U.S. nuclear submarine Patrick Henry arrived in Scotland from Charleston, S.C., after a record-making underwater voyage of 66 days 22 hours.

Also 10 years ago: President John F. Kennedy announced a major stepup in government spending and building to help pull the country out of a recession.

By the year 2000 an estimated 80 per cent of the United States population will live in large urban areas covering about 340,000 square miles.

Unionize Farm Labor

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

Don't look now, but we may be on the threshold of a prolonged and rancorous Congressional referendum on the National Labor Relations Act. While it won't be conducted specifically as such, all the implications will be there when the attempt is made to apply Federal labor law to the nation's farm workers.

The AFL-CIO president, George Meany, has maneuvered the Nixon Administration into advocating unionization of farm labor provided there are guarantees of "democracy" within the union units. But the whole history of rule making under the National Labor Relations Board is enough to make one skeptical of "union democracy" in any area where union membership is a compulsory matter. It takes a brave man inside a union to argue about such things as the political disposition of his money.

In voting to apply Federal law to farm labor, Congress will be forced to review the labor policies of the last four decades. Meany may not fear the results, though he may prove to be somewhat short-sighted about it. The review of our labor policies will be coming at a time when practically all our economists (Professor Milton Friedman is one exception) are complaining that unchecked union power is a major factor in our current inflation. The unions receive big raises, which are subsequently reflected in prices. To clear the market of high-priced goods and to keep people at work, the government is forced to flush the money supply. We have seen this happen over and over again on our road to what now amounts to the 35-cent dollar. It is against this background of monetary decay that the "referendum" on our labor policies is about to be held. Do we wish to extend the "union shop" to a whole new area at this point? What would it do to the price of food, which is high enough already?

The farmers are originally exempted from the terms of the Wagner Act, and from its subsequent modifications, for entirely pragmatic reasons. Crops are by nature perishable and a widespread strike in a harvesting season could play hob with the nation's food supply. Legislation proposed by the Nixon Administration is aimed at making the damaging harvest-time strike an unlikely thing. There could be legal delays, as in the case of authorization for railroad strikes; there could be prescribed arbitration procedures. If the crop itself could be protected, what about the worker himself?

Once subjected to compulsory unionism, the farm worker would inevitably find himself under a padrone system. And when the padrone-style boss markets the labor, racketeering usually follows. Instead of applying to an individual farmer for a job (usually seasonal), and then joining the

Eckhart Slated To Hear PUCO

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Columbus Attorney Henry W. Eckhart was scheduled to take oath as chairman of the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio today.

Gov. John J. Gilligan announced his appointment Sunday. Eckhart, a native of Columbus and grandson of former Columbus Mayor Henry W. Worley, served as treasurer of the state-wide Gilligan for Governor Committee in 1970.

He succeeds Kenneth Johnson whose term expired. PUCO Chairman Carl Johnson steps down to become commissioner.

union after a 30-day period, the footloose worker would find it necessary to get on hiring hall terms with his union negotiator. Lacking a fixed abode, and stable membership in a specific union local, what chance would the farm worker who "follows the crops" have of fighting for "union democracy"? He would be a unit to be delivered by his union boss to a corporate farm as part of a package.

The American Farm Bureau Federation opposes compulsory unionization of farm labor on the ground that it is "impractical." Unfortunately, some of the big growers' associations of the Southwest, bewildered by the capitulation of the grape growers to Cesar Chavez's United Farm Workers Organizing Committee, show signs of giving in to the demands of the AFL-CIO. The fight, however, could be bitter in a Congress that has turned down compulsory unionism for the postal workers.

Reed Larson's National Right to Work Committee, which spearheaded the fight to retain freedom of choice for Post Office employees, is raring to go on behalf of the small farmer and the farm worker who wants voluntary unionism. And don't let anyone tell you that Mr. Larson, who has considerable labor support for his organization, can't be a formidable energizer. In addition to his Post Office victory, he won the fight to retain the law (14B of the Taft-Hartley Act) which permits individual states to prohibit compulsory unionism. Cesar Chavez bested Mr. Larson in the grape pickers' fracas, but that particular fight never reached Capitol Hill. And it is on Capitol Hill that the big farm unionization struggle will be waged.

5 YEARS AGO

Initial legislation toward establishing an urban development plan was approved by Circleville Council directing the City Planning and Zoning Commission to make application for federal assistance. A workable program had been in discussion stages since 1958.

Ashville's new post office building was dedicated.

Local taxidermist Glen Huffer received what he termed his "toughest job yet" when assigned to mount a calf born in Belmont County with two bodies and eight legs.

Maximum state aid was assured for construction of a joint Pickaway-Ross County airport.

Double funeral services were held for Rev. Charles L. Wright and his wife, Sonora, 227 Logan St., killed in a tragic two-car accident at the Crites Road and Route 23 intersection. He was general treasurer of the Church Conference and Circleville Bible College. Mrs. Wright was a dietician at Berger Hospital.

Terry Dilts, a native of Indiana, was named the new golf pro at Pickaway Country Club.

Demolition work was begun at the Marfield residence, Main and Pickaway Sts. The site was to become the new home of the Third National Bank.

The basketball season ended for Pickaway County cage fans when Westfall's Mustangs blew a 10-point lead and lost to Fredericktown, 66-65, in the Central District Class A tournament at Columbus.

Charles Beard, a Columbus native, was hired as Berger Hospital's new administrator. He succeeded Miss Ellen Leist who resigned the post.

Effective April 1, all slow moving vehicles were required by state legislation to display a special emblem to the rear, when operated on state, county or township highways and roads. All farm machinery, all road construction equipment and other vehicles designed to operate at speeds of 25 miles per hour or less, had to comply.

A veteran of 8 1/2 years with the Circleville Police force, William Goff resigned to accept a position elsewhere saying "even if a wage increase was granted, there was no future in staying."

Mr. and Mrs. Leander Brown of 329 Barnes Ave., observed their 58th wedding anniversary.

Robert McCarty, a former editor of The Circleville Herald, died of a heart attack at his home in Coshocton where he served as managing editor of the Coshocton Tribune.

Pickaway Grange

NEBRASKA GRANGE

Nebraska Grange met in regular session March 2. This was the annual Oyster Supper.

Scioto Valley Grange members guests and presented the evening's program under the direction of the Lecturer, Mrs. John Dowler. "The Missing Day" was given by John Dowler, which quoted Bible information followed by a reading "Slow Me Down Lord" by Mrs. C. E. Mahaffey. Mrs. Paul Bozman offered "Washington" Inaugural Prayer.

All present enjoyed readings "Diet Dilemma" and "Celebrity" given by Mrs. Herman Berger and Mrs. Donald Courtright. Master Harold Bumgarner read some jokes and entertained with two numbers on the harmonica. Mrs. Dowler conducted a quiz, "Name the Year." A skit "The Little Red Hen" was enjoyed. Those taking part were Mrs. Mahaffey, Mrs. Harry Speakman, Mrs. Harold Bumgarner, Mrs. Mary Krieger and John Dowler. The program closed with group singing, "When You and I Were Young Maggie."

During the business session conducted by Master Ray Noecker, contributions were made to the Pickaway County Society for Crippled Children and Adults and to the Cancer Society.

Edward Crites, local youth chairman, reported on the County Youth activities. He announced the district drill contest to be held at Pleasantville, Friday, March 5. Sunday, March 7, the county Grange youth attended St. Paul Lutheran Church.

Joseph C. Peters, Legislative Agent, reported attending the State Legislative Conference held recently in Columbus with the National Legislative Agent, Bob Frederick, speaking.

Mrs. Charles Dresbach and Mrs. Jessie Buskirk were reported in the hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Peters served as chairmen for the oyster supper, assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Carl Bennett and Mrs. Chester Noecker.

Next regular meeting will be April 6 with Mr. and Mrs. Herman Hines as hospitality chairmen.

PICKAWAY YOUTH GRANGE

A salute to St. Patrick was a theme for the recreation at the monthly meeting of the Pickaway Grange Youth Group held at the home of Harold Furniss. The recreation followed the business meeting and was directed by Barbara McKenzie.

Business for the evening dealt with the drill competition and the activities of the group during the summer months. Plans were also begun for the annual banquet to be held in May with Joan Dawson serving as the chairman.

Ron Hendershot conducted the meeting with members from four granges present. Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Archer, youth directors, discussed the projects of the group and reported on current activities of the organization.

Members of the youth group attended worship services at the St. Paul Lutheran Church and in April will attend the Trinity Lutheran Church in Circleville.

The host conducted the devotions using Psalms I as the theme. Following the meeting refreshments were served by the host and his parents.

The next meeting of the organization will be held at the home of Paul Judy 7 p.m. April 4.

Views on Television

By CYNTHIA LOWERY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) —There came a time on Sunday afternoon when a television viewer, flipping around the dial in quest of an hour or so of amusement, had a choice of hockey, basketball, golf, tennis—and two very elderly movies.

No matter what one may think of half-time shows of football games and those dreary interviews on the sidelines while basketball players catch their breath, the television industry covers sports events very satisfactorily from the casual viewer's setside seat and certainly seems eager to give us all the sport we can absorb.

Of the games now in season, hockey seems to be both easy to follow and far and away the most violent — a mass of fast-moving bodies and flailing sticks.

Basketball, also easy to follow, is a fair exciting exhibition of skill and speed. Golf presumably has a special following—a veteran sportscaster called it the most difficult sport for which to provide a running commentary.

In addition to Sunday's live coverage of an assortment of sports—even the educational stations got into the act with the National Indoor Tennis Championship matches.

But over all was the excitement building over tonight's world heavyweight championship match between Muhammad Ali and Joe Frazier. While TV viewers will not see the match live on their sets at home—it is a closed-circuit, hard-ticket spectacle—CBS devoted a prime-time hour to a buildup.

It seemed more like a 60-minute commercial for the fight, complete with sales talk by Ali. There were a few clips showing Frazier's performance in some previous fights, but mostly the hour consisted of Ali, the more colorful contender, doing a lot of excited boasting about his skill and threatening opponents. Unless one was a real fight fan, the 60 minutes was mostly sound and fury.

Johnny Carson entered a hospital Sunday with what NBC described as "a mild case of hepatitis." Joey Bishop, once a Carson rival, has been enlisted to substitute for Johnny.

Ferguson PERS Status Studied By Officials

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Public Employees Retirement System has asked the attorney general's office to rule whether State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson is entitled to receive a PERS pension, as well as his $25,000-a-year salary.

Ferguson, 78, qualifies for a pension with more than 30 years of service in elected and appointed public office. He is the first to benefit from a provision, effective last September, that requires benefits to continue to pensioners elected to public office.

The auditor says, "They (the Legislature; thought they were passing this bill for a Republican, but I fooled them." He adds of the pension, "I'm entitled to it."

PERS board members are inclined to agree with him, but want the legal ruling for good measure.

Hospital Sets Financial Disclosure Law Pushed

CINCINNATI (AP) — Expanded emotional and mental treatment for children, adolescents and adults including marital problems is planned by the new operators of Emerson at North Hospital here.

The hospital revealed Sunday that it had been purchased Feb. 12 by University Research Corp. Inc., for an undisclosed sum. The hospital was founded in 1873 by Dr. North, a pioneer in psychiatric treatment.

The buildings have 135 beds in buildings on the 25 acre site in the North College Hill section. It's facilities are private.

"We wish to continue the fine traditions established by the Emerson A. North Hospital and maintained since its original founding," said Dr. Jacob Fishman, president of University Research.

Alfred Sasser, executive vice president, said the firm plans expanded in-patient and out-patient treatment.

NOTICE AND INSTRUCTIONS TO BIDDERS

1. Sealed bids will be received by the Ernhart Hill Water District hereinafter referred to as the "Owner" for performing the work as set forth in the Plans and Specifications attached hereto, on or before Tuesday, 12:00 noon o'clock March 23, 1971, in the office of Dumond-Sifford & Associates, 122 1/2 North Court Street, Circleville, Ohio at which time said bids will be publicly opened and read.

2. All bids must be made on the blank form of proposal.

3. Each bid must be accompanied by a bid bond or certified check payable to the Owner for five per cent of the total amount of the bid.

4. Rebuilding Of OSU Hall Approved

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio State University trustees approved Friday reconstruction of historic University Hall, first building on the campus.

The action followed Controlling Board release last month of $5.9 million for the project.

OSU President Novice G. Fawcett said the new structure will duplicate the present building's facade but will have a more efficient internal layout.

In addition, a separate structure nearby will provide space needed for the College of Humanities and the Graduate School.

In other action, the trustees: — Changed the position of dean of undergraduate programs in the Colleges of Arts and Sciences to that of vice provost for Arts and Sciences.

— Approved plans for a $14.9 million ambulatory patient teaching facility in the university's medical center and a $3 million agricultural technical institute to be constructed at the research and development center in Wooster.

— Appointed Dr. Franklin P. Kilpatrick, 50, of the University of Delaware, as dean of the Ohio State College of Social and Behavioral Sciences, effective Aug. 1.

— Appointed Dr. Frank W. Hale Jr., 43, president of Oakwood College, Huntsville, Ala., as associate dean of Ohio State's Graduate School, effective June 1.

Financial Disclosure Law Pushed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. John J. Gilligan revealed his financial worth Friday and announced he is preparing to require all public officials in the state to do likewise.

Gilligan listed his net worth at $190,000, including $42,059 in savings accounts and stock valued at $90,398 owned by his wife and him. The portfolio consists mostly of blue chip stocks.

The governor's office also revealed financial statements filed by 21 officials in the cabinet, an action Gilligan had made a requirement of employment.

A comprehensive code of ethics bill prepared by Gilligan will be introduced into the state Senate next week by Sen. John Poda Jr., D-28 Akron, and into the House by Rep. Patrick Sweeney, D-47 Cleveland.

It would require full disclosure annually of personnel financial worth and sources of income for appointed as well as elected public officials.

It would apply to every "policy level" government worker, whether he is on the government's staff or a township administrator, and would include university and school district officials as well as members of state boards and commissions.

Gilligan said during his campaign last year that ethics legislation would be a priority item in his administration.

To enforce the bill's provisions, four state-level ethics committees would be established along with an ethics committee in each of the 88 counties. Each committee would consist of six members, three from each major political party, and would be appointed to staggered six-year terms.

The governor would appoint one state committee to oversee the executive branch; the House and Senate each would name a separate committee, and the chief justice of the supreme court would appoint a committee for the judicial branch.

The presiding judge of the common pleas court in each county would name the local committee.

Conviction of any violation of the bill would bring automatic dismissal from office, plus up to five years in jail and a $25,000 fine.

The proposal also would set up guidelines to let public officials know what could amount to a conflict-of-interest.

The cabinet officials filing financial statements with the secretary of state's office Friday and their reported net worth were:

William B. Nye, director of natural resources, $49,830; Executive Assistant James Friedman, $36,926; Highway Director J. Phillip Richey, $59,926; Special Assistant Thomas H. Menough, $59,950; Legislative Assistant John C. McDonald, $84,447; Personnel Director Paul A. Corey, $56,407.

Corrections Superintendent Bennett J. Coper, $43,330; William Barnes, administrator of employment services, $55,520; Welfare Director John E. Hansen, $22,665; Tax Commission Robert J. Kosydar, $133,500; Urban Affairs Director Bruce Newman, $16,933; Joseph Somers administrator of workmen's compensation, $233,660.

Adj. Gen. Dana L. Steward, $76,565; Finance Director Harold Hovey, $28,870; Insurance Director Kenneth DeSheller, $97,200; Development Director David C. Sweet, $24,397; Education Assistant Robert E. Cecile, $27,717, and Commerce Director Ronald J. Coffey, $212,915.

Miss Sarah Ann Cromley To Marry Chris Johnson

MISS SARAH ANN CROMLEY

Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Hewitt Cromley of Ashville announce the engagement of their daughter, Sarah Ann, to Lt. Chris Albert Johnson II, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chris A. Johnson of Boardman.

Miss Cromley is presently a senior nursing student at Capital City School of Nursing, District of Columbia General Hospital. She will graduate June 6th.

Lt. Johnson was graduated by Kent State University in 1969 with a bachelor of science in education degree. He is a life member and past president of Epsilon Psi Chapter of Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity. Lt. Johnson is presently serving in the United States Air Force and stationed at Andrews Air Force Base, Washington, D.C.

The wedding will be an event of June 19th.

Preservation Group Elects Officers At Annual Meet

Lazio Koe-Krompecher, Professor in the Ohio University School of Architecture, Design and Planning, was elected president of the South Central Ohio Preservation Society, Inc., during an annual luncheon meeting Saturday.

Also elected to the executive board during the meeting for 97 at The Sportsman in Athens were: Mrs. Jacob T. Kalfs of Waverly, first vice president; Emmett A. Conway of McArthur, second vice president; Mrs. Richard Rankin of Washington Court House, third vice president; Alan McIntosh of Waverly, fourth vice president; Earl Barnhart, treasurer, and Dr. William Penoyer, assistant treasurer, both of Chillicothe; Mrs. Charles Allen Smart, secretary, and Mrs. John Davis, assistant secretary, both of Chillicothe; Russ Johns of Chillicothe, publicity; Mrs. Harold Wilhelm of Lake White, membership.

Also included are the three past presidents: Mrs. Joseph V. Vanmeter of Route 1, Piketon, John Davis of Chillicothe and Mrs. E. V. Graves of near Kingston.

Conway was master of ceremonies for the event hosted by the Athens County Historical Society. Among distinguished guests were Ohio University President and Mrs. Claude Sowle, Mr. and Mrs. Fred J. Milligan Sr. of Columbus, Thompson Little, director of the UN Vernon Alden Library; OU archivist, Richard Ryan, Provost and Mrs. Robert Savage and other members of the campus faculty.

During the business session conducted by Mrs. Graves, Ohio University honored SCOPS' request that the Vernon Alden Library be the official repository for the organization's records and materials collection.

In accepting the responsibility, Librarian Little said, "We're pleased SCOPS has viewed Ohio University as its repository. We don't take this responsibility lightly. With your help and the assistance of others like you, we'll be able to develop one of the most significant research centers in the country."

Milligan, a 20-year member of the Ohio Historical Society board of trustees, and SCOPS member, made the major Recognition Award to Ohio University for voluntary preservation of its three oldest buildings, Cutler, McGuffey and Wilson Halls. He lauded the OU administration for its actions, contrasting it to that proposed at Ohio State University to raze hallowed University Hall.

President Sowle accepted the award on behalf of the university.

Other awards went to: David Lee King of Greenfield, for his work in preservation, the Church of Latter Day Saints for outstanding genealogical research and study, Mrs. Ray W. Davis and the Pickaway County Historical Society for an outstanding historical newsletter, Centennial Farms; Milton, O. G. Haubeil and Counts Farms in Ross County and Stewart E.

Nation's Jobless Rate Dips Slightly During February

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's unemployment rate edged down from 6 per cent to 5.8 per cent of the work force last month, the government said Friday.

Secretary of Labor J. D. Hodgson called it an indication that "the economy is moving in a favorable direction."

The actual number of jobless Americans remained virtually unchanged at 5.4 million, but including allowance for normal seasonal factors the Bureau of Labor Statistics figured it as a drop of 185,000.

Total employment, while edging up slightly to 77.2 million, also represented a decline on a seasonal basis, the report said. The bureau said total unemployment has dropped 300,000 since a nine-year-high in December, but was still 1.6 million above February a year ago.

The report said February's was the second straight drop in the nation's jobless rate, from 6.2 per cent in December to 6 per cent in January to 5.8 per cent in February.

The bureau had originally reported December's figure as 6 per cent but later revised it upward when January's figure was reported.

"For the first time in many months, a downward movement occurred," Hodgson said of the January figure.

"That change was cited as a hopeful sign because it was ac-

Publisher Named At Middletown

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP) — Frank Myers, son of the first publisher of the Middletown Journal, has been named editor-publisher succeeding N.J. "Bert" Lawler, who announced his retirement Sunday.

The late E.S. Myers served in the top position starting in 1925 when Chew Publications purchased the Journal.

Frank Myers began his career with the Journal and was named general manager of the Piqua Call in 1951. He returned to Middletown in 1964.

He was accompanied by a similar favorable shift in other indicators—the decline in the level of state unemployment compensation payments, for instance," Hodgson's statement said.

Dear Abby: Have Wife Change Beauty Parlor Day

DEAR ABBY: Do I have a legitimate complaint or not? The only time my wife will have anything to do with me is on a Thursday night, because Friday is the day she gets her hair done.

Now Thursday nights are out because I belong to a bowling league which used to bowl every Wednesday, but they changed it to Thursday, and I don't get home from bowling until after midnight, and my wife is already asleep by then.

I am not about to give up bowling, Abby, and I think a man is entitled to some affection at least once a week. I am missing out. Any suggestions will be greatly appreciated. Don't sign my name or I will miss out forever.

CHEATED
DEAR CHEATED: Ask your wife to change her beauty parlor day. (She's missing out, too!) Arranging a time schedule for that which should be spontaneous is not exactly up my alley.

DEAR ABBY: Mine is a very touchy problem. A very close friend of ours who worked with my husband died after a long illness. During the illness, my husband gave him about a dozen books to read. One was especially cherished because it was personally inscribed by Irving Stone, the author. It has been over a year since our friend died and his widow has made no effort to return the books. Not wanting to give her anything more to worry about than she already had, I never mentioned it to her. I know she's aware that the books have not yet been returned because she once remarked "I am so ashamed of myself for not having returned those books yet."

Fawcett Announces Intention To Retire As OSU Chief

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Chairman John Ketterer of the Ohio State University Board of Trustees says the board faces an "insurmountable" problem in finding a successor to President Novice G. Fawcett.

Fawcett, OSU president for 15 of his 40 years in public education, left a hospital bed Friday to tell the surprised trustees he will retire Sept. 1, 1972.

He gave no reason, other than to say he felt he should

Rock Singer May Damage Vocal Cords

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Improper voice training can result in permanent damage to the vocal cords of rock singers, according to a doctor in the Cleveland Clinic's department of otolaryngology.

Dr. Eugene Batza, in an article in the Cleveland Clinic Quarterly, said that the five members of a rock combo that recently underwent examination at the Clinic had all suffered damaged vocal cords and only some of the damage can be undone.

According to the doctor, a rock singer must change his vocal style if a lasting improvement is to occur.

He said the five members of the rock combo had swelling of the vocal cords or the membrane lining of the throat, thickening of the vocal cords and small growths on the vocal cords.

Grant Courtright Jr., Stoutsville, was honored recently for achieving academic excellence for the fall quarter at Ohio University in Athens.

Courtright earned a 4.0 for the fall term. He is a student in the College of Education, majoring in physical education. An Amanda Clearcreek graduate, he will complete his studies from Ohio University this June. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Grant Courtright Sr.

Also named to the Dean List for the fall term at OU was Rita Elaine Judy, Laurelville.

At the University of Mississippi, Judith Beckman of Ashville, was named to the Dean's List for the fall semester. Judith is a member of Zeta Tau Alpha sorority and the Alpha Lambda Delta, scholastic honorary society.

Richard W. Zahard recently married for 36 years and my husband never told me he loved me. And he doesn't compliment me on how I look or how I cook. He doesn't have to.

He shows it in everything he does. He has worked like a dog all our married life to provide me and our four children with the best of everything. He's never looked at another woman. He's strong and kind and generous. And he's always there when I need him.

Actions speak louder than words. Words come so easy for some and so hard for others. His actions are enough proof of his love for me. I thank God every day for my wonderful husband, and wonder how I ever got so lucky.

INDIANAPOLIS

CONFIDENTIAL TO D. D. J.:
"Twas I who has said on more than one occasion that "love is a mental disease." In a very real sense it is. Perhaps that explains why so many marriages fail. They have been contracted while both parties were out of their minds."

Richard was discharged from the U.S. Army after serving two years and graduated from Ft. Eustis, receiving a diploma as an Army jet helicopter mechanic.

Zahard is a 1967 graduate of Logan Elm High School. He earned the Circleville Sertoma Club scholarship in 1968 to attend the Nashville Auto Diesel College.

Crystal E. Chandler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Chandler, 650 Garden Parkway, has made the autumn dean's honor roll at Wichita State University in Kansas.

Ohio State University has announced names of some 400 top-ranking juniors and seniors who were honored last week at the 14th annual President's Scholarship Recognition Dinner.

Invitations were received by outstanding undergraduate scholars of the university, including Wendy Wolcott Seminary, Route 1.

Westminster Choir College student Dale Hukill has been employed as choir director in a Baptist Church in Princeton, N. J.

Three choirs are under Hukill's direction, specializing in spirituals, gospel music and hymns. The jobs are obtained through the Westminster College office to students seeking experience in the field of their study.

Dale is an organ student at the college and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Orville Hukill, 916 Lincoln Drive.

Lockheed Says British Engine Offer Too High

NEW YORK (AP) — The chairman of Lockheed Aircraft Corp. says the British government's offer to help development of the Rolls-Royce engine for the Lockheed TriStar airliner falls below his expectations.

Daniel J. Houghton said two competitive U.S. engines—Pratt & Whitney and General Electric—might cost less than the Rolls-Royce RB-211 engine "if I met all their demands."

Speaking to newsmen at the corporate headquarters of Trans World Airlines, a major customer for the TriStar, Houghton said his principal objection was to the British proposal that Lockheed pay all costs above the $144 million that the British government would put up.

Soaring costs of development of the engine forced Rolls-Royce into receivership.

FFA BANQUET — These three young Westfall misses have been nominated by the Future Farmers of America chapter as queen finalists. Becky Shannon, left, Marilyn Keller, center and Becky Beauman are competing for the 1971 title and will be crowned Wednesday at the annual club banquet.

Future Farmers To Select Queen

The annual Westfall FFA Banquet will be held Wednesday. The banquet's program includes many varying activities such as selection of a queen and her court. Three girls have now been named as finalists. They are Becky Beauman, Becky Shannon and Marilyn Keller.

Becky Beauman is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ned Beauman of Route 1, Mt. Sterling. She is 16 and lists some of her activities as Drama Club, Science Club, annual staff, choir and MYF.

Her likes are swimming and having a good time with friends. She dislikes fakey people and school. Becky stated, "I was surprised and pleased when I found out I was in the top three finalists for FFA Queen."

Marilyn Keller, age 15, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Keller, Route 1, Williamsport.

Her activities make a long list: secretary of FFA, secretary-treasurer of her homeroom, member of GAA, varsity cheerleader, band, member of Sr. Deer Creek Livestock 4-H Club, Jr. Fair Board and member of the Williamsport church.

Marilyn likes cheering, talking to people and pizza. She dislikes the long school hours. She says, "I am very glad that I was chosen to be on the FFA court." She also would like to thank everyone.

The last candidate is Becky Shannon. She lives with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Shannon at Route 2, Orient.

Her activities include cooking, sewing, FFA, Drama Club, 4-H, Jr. Leader and Pep Band. She likes having a good time and Jay B. She dislikes conceited people, working and people who roll her house. She is also excited and grateful for this accomplishment.

Recently Westfall has obtained a new patrol force which attempts to keep law and order in the halls of Westfall.

"The Mod Squad" (in more common terms, hall monitors) consists of two authorized students from each study hall. These students sit at desks in opposite corners of the building where two halls join together.

These two stations provide an adequate view of most of the school. Anyone without a pass or legitimate business is sent to the office at the discretion of the monitor. The "changing of the guard" takes place every hour upon the ringing of Westfall's bells.

Two of Westfall's more notable members of "The Mod Squad" took time for their duties to comment on the innovation.

Steve Nevil, a senior, likes his job as a hall monitor because he finds it interesting, although he feels the pay is "lousy." He likes the peace and quiet as well as being able to talk to all the pretty girls in the halls.

Dana Brigner, a sophomore, enjoys being hall monitor because it gets him out of study hall.

Here are a few student comments:

Tim McCoy — I think they should be given badges and cap guns.

Terry Hamilton — It stinks.

Ted Rogers — It's a treat to my well-being.

Roy Bailey — It doesn't bother me.

Mary Bialy — All you need is a short skirt.

Jerry Lahrmer — It's stupid.

Donnae Bryant — If teachers would do their jobs, we wouldn't need monitors.

Glenna Holbrook — No comment.

Sandy Nix — We need monitors to monitor the hall monitors.

Donna Stapleton — Not much.

Sally Minor — I think it's worth a try.

Science Students Tour Area Plant

On February 19, twenty students and two teacher-advisors set out by bus for DuPont for the annual Science Club tour.

The tour began at 1:30 in the research auditorium of the Circleville DuPont Plant. Reports were presented by the various staff members of the DuPont corporation on the manufacture and use of DuPont products. It was also demonstrated what the plant is doing to stop pollution.

Following the reports, club members toured the research labs and the manufacturing departments. The tour was followed by coke and potato chips break, donated by the DuPont Company.

Five Hours In Administration: A Woman's View

Women's Liberation took a big step at Westfall High School recently when the administration of the high school fell to the shoulders of the girls' physical education instructor, Mrs. Pat Ogle, for a day. Following is a report on how her day was spent.

"When I accepted the position, I guess I looked upon the job as just one more thing to accomplish and sure I'd be able to handle it. I plied my mind with a phrase to help me get through the day — There's nothing to it!"

"The absence list of the preceding day was checked off as each absentee reported in, and this seemed to go all right — There's nothing to it!"

"When the morning announcements needed to be made — There's nothing to it! A phone call informed me that the vocational agricultural teacher would be absent and all his classes should report to study hall — There's nothing to it!"

Then a fatal mistake occurred by this woman informing the boys she would check restrooms personally, if necessary, to round-up any strays (There should be nothing to it).

"Now to check on my own classes. What is this boy doing coming to my class? (He was tardy and needed my signature to get to class — See, there's nothing to it.)

"Next, a teacher drags in two boys for smoking. (Oh dear, there's nothing to it!) So a man teacher was called in to administer the punishment — I would have but thought I might further degrade the male ego by doing so.

Then a passing motorist reported a school walk-away headed down highway 56. After a check-up with others, the truant was identified and I tried to contact the mother (See there's nothing to it). After having little luck doing this, the truant was reported to the county attendance officer.

"While ready to take a break for lunch, a girl approached in tears — 'We've been fighting and they're going to get me today!' (Who has? — There's nothing to it!) When I finally got to lunch, it settled like a lump in the middle of my throat.

"Hurray, hurray, today is the Latin Club Sale Day. It gets off without a hitch (There's nothing to it.) At least I thought so, but a teacher has a pass written by a student — Oh, dear! There's just got to be nothing to it!"

"The day ends. I'm as tired as I can get. I hope the equipment was put away.

"Would I do it again? Sorry. There was nothing to it, but I have new respect for the position and I feel every teacher on the staff should get his or her share. Good luck!"

Music Class Earns Honors

Recently several musically-talented Westfall students traveled to the District Solo and Ensemble Contest held at Brookhaven Sr. High and Clinton Jr. High School in Columbus.

Solos and ensembles were classified in three groups (A, B, and C) according to difficulty, with A being the most difficult and being considered as state finals.

Students received ratings of I, II, III, IV or V, with I representing an outstanding performance. Of those students taking A solos, Mark Hosler (cornet) and Vicki Stoer (vocal) both received I's.

Rita Ingman (clarinet) and Sally Minor (piano) received II's; and Terry Rogers (drum) and Diane Snyder (clarinet) each received III's.

Those receiving a I or II in class A solos were presented medals in addition to their certificates.

Stephanie Garland received a III on a class B piano solo.

Two class A ensembles traveled to contest. The percussion ensemble consisting of Terry Rogers, Barb Justus, Rick Metzger and Tanis Galloway received a III as well as a brass quintet consisting of Mark Hosler, Karen Fausnaugh, John Myers, Judy Schein and Randy Smith.

In class B ensembles, a clarinet quartet of Dave Long, Rita Ingman, Chris Hansen and Cheryl Miller received a superior rating of I. A flute, oboe and bassoon trio consisting of Nancy Morgan, Vicki Stoer and Cheryl Miller received a II.

Those ensembles receiving a III in class B competition were a percussion trio with members Rick Metzger, Karen Steinhauser and Nancy Mace and a trumpet quartet of Karen Fausnaugh, Ted Rogers, Debbie Hulise and Kathy Logan.

Senior Of Week Plan For Secretary, Air Force Jobs

This week Donna Stapleton and Richard Riddle have been chosen to represent Westfall as the seniors of the week.

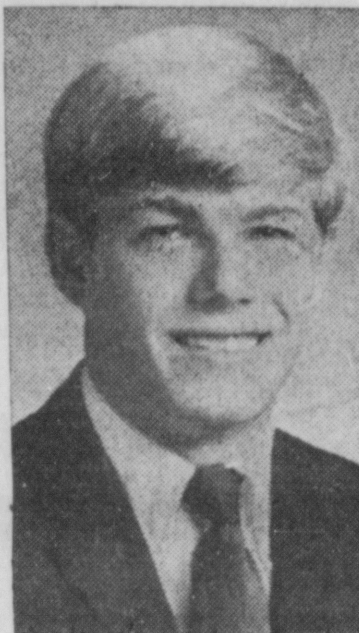

Donna Stapleton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andy Stapleton of Route 3, Mt. Sterling, is enrolled in the business course of study.

DONNA STAPLETON

This year Donna has been leading a very active role as editor of the "Echo," a monthly school newspaper. In the past, her interests centered on the FBLA, Drama Club and annual staff.

Donna, who is known for her great sense of humor, enjoys reading, playing and watching all types of sports and just having fun. She is also interested in music. Following graduation, she plans to obtain a secretarial position.

RICHARD RIDDLE

Richard Riddle, son of Mrs. and Mrs. Franklin T. Riddle of Route 2, Orient, is enrolled in the vocational course of study.

Last spring, the student body placed their faith in Richard and elected him president of Student Council. When he is not busy with this job, he serves as vice president of the FFA, assistant editor of the annual, and member of the Varsity W. He has been on the football team for four years and the track team for one year.

In honor of his hard work, Richard was selected as a delegate to the State FFA Convention and to the Student Council Workshop. He has also been a member of the Darby Fine and Dandy 4-H Club for seven years.

Being actively sports-minded, Richard enjoys skiing, swimming, boating and playing football and ice hockey.

Following graduation, Richard plans to enter the United States Air Force.

Kibby's Raiders

Overcome Viking Musician Squad

On the dark night of February 23, Kibby's Raiders overwhelmed the Viking hand basketball team from Teays Valley 78-26.

Vikings came into the game undefeated; the Raiders had yet to win. Watching the pre-game warm-up, it was difficult to say who would win, the Vikings working hard to perfect their shots, the Raiders everything but! As the game started, the Raiders took a very early lead (24) and never lost it.

In the second half, the Raider defense broke down and allowed the Vikings 20 points. But in the end, Coach Boling of the Vikings escorted a heart-broken team from the floor.

For the Raiders, Jay Welsh led the scoring with 33 points. Chuak Steinhauser was second-high scorer with 11 points. Tim McCoy had 8 points; Glen Bauer — 8; Mark Holser — 6; Steve Johnson — 5; Gary Wright — 3; Dave Long — 3; and Lynn Marshall — 2.

Since its publication in the early 1600's, Miguel de Cervantes' masterpiece, "Don Quixote" has been more widely translated than any other book except the Bible.

Eighth Grade Tastes High School Life

"Do I have to take Algebra?" "Gee, that teacher is cute." "What's a major; do I have one?"

These are just a few of the comments overheard in the halls in February as Westfall sponsored its annual eighth grade visitation day. The program began with Mr. Holmes, the guidance counselor, giving a brief description of what subjects will be offered to the freshman class next year. He also discussed the needs to be completed before graduation from WHS.

Mr. Beck next delivered a speech on the rules and resolutions to be followed at Westfall.

Mr. Vance, boys physical education teacher, also talked some about freshman sport activities and took the names of next year's potential players. The eighth graders were then led around the building by the Future Teachers Club members to actually see the classes they would be attending and to meet the teachers.

The 19-foot bronze statue of Thomas Jefferson was erected in the Jefferson Memorial in 1943.

Muhammad Ali And Joe Frazier To Clash Tonight

NEW YORK (AP) — "He's a loud-mouth, he's a nut, he appeals to fools — I will beat him inside of ten rounds," says Joe Frazier.

"He's just a homemade champion, an amateur, ugly and awkward — it will be no contest, I will win," boasts Muhammad Ali.

With these bitter broadsides, Frazier, the grim buzz-saw slugger, and Ali, the arrogant and garrulous craftsman, plugged their verbal cannon and awaited the 10:40 p.m., EST, bell tonight at Madison Square Garden for the projected $30 million, unparalleled sports spectacle that will decide the undisputed king of the heavyweights.

Las Vegas has made Frazier, the bull, a 6-5 favorite. British bookmakers, reflecting Ali's overseas popularity, rate Muhammad the Matador an 11 to 8 edge.

Jimmy "The Greek" Snyder, the nation's unofficial Wizard of Odds, calls it an even "pick 'em" fight. The viewing audience is expected to number 300 million — live and electronic. The fight will be shown on closed circuit television in 370 locations in the United States, plus additional ones in Canada and the United Kingdom. Thirty-three other countries, including Communist Yugoslavia and Rumania, will see it on home screens via satellite.

The live audience at the Garden will be a sellout, 19,500, who paid between $20 and $150 per ticket for a gate of $1.25 million. Scalpers are reported getting $700 for the $150 ring-side tickets.

Jerry Perenchio, an enterprising Hollywood booking agent out of whose mind the whole grandiose scheme came, and Los Angeles sportsman Jack Kent Cooke, who put up $4.5 million of the original $5-million bankroll, have predicted a gross of $30 million.

However, failure to sell out all the two million closed-circuit seats and certain ancillary rights — may reduce the overall take to between $20 million and $25 million.

Licavoli Loses Bid

CINCINNATI (AP) — Thomas "Yonnie" Licavoli, convicted of murder in four gangland slayings in 1934, Friday lot his latest bid for freedom in the U. S. 6th Circuit Court of Appeals.

The three-judge panel upheld an earlier decision by Judge Joseph P. Kinneary, U. S. District Court in Columbus, Ohio, that Licavoli had received a fair trial.

Licavoli had been the subject of numerous charges against state and prison officials that he has received special treatment while in the Ohio Penitentiary and had maintained control over rackets in the northern Ohio area.

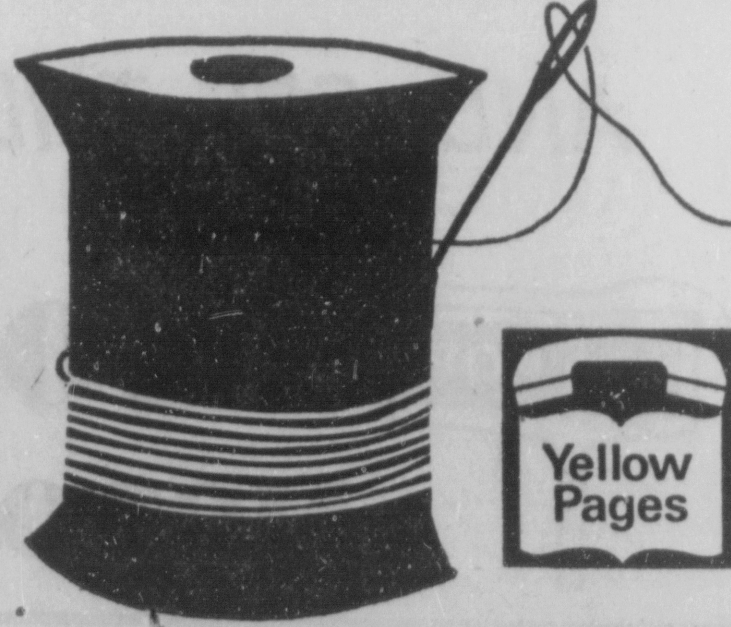

F. Lee Bailey, noted criminal attorney from Boston, had argued that prosecuting officials at the time of the trial had intimidated witnesses and that the trial was held in an atmosphere "permeated with prejudicial publicity."

Steven Miller, assistant Franklin County prosecutor, had asked the court why Licavoli had waited 34 years to appeal the case. The U. S. Supreme Court had refused to review the case in 1967. In 1968 Gov. James A. Rhodes commuted the conviction to second degree murder making Licavoli eligible for parole. The Ohio Pardon and Parole Board then refused to release him.

Youth Grange Drill Team Wins District

On Friday evening the Pickaway County Grange Youth drill team traveled to Pleasantville where they were winners in the district drill competition. The team is directed by Paul Dunkle and drill promoter, Dave Archer.

Receiving second place in the drill competition was the youth from Hocking County, directed by Glennell Weaver.

This is but one of the annual contests held for grange youth throughout the state. Also performing during the evening were ritualistic teams from Hocking, Fairfield and Morgan County.

The next performance of the drill team will be on April 3, at Etna, where they will compete with teams which have won other contests during the two weeks of contests being held this week and last.

Performing members of the group are: Betty, Bonnie and Barbara Bolender; Sheryl Holbrook, Shirley Cooper, Margaret Burchwell, Darlene Collins, Karen Ewing; Debi, Rob and Dave Archer; Jan and Ron Hendershot; Keith Lands Gloria Bidwell; and Paul Dunkle. Piano accompanist for the team is Mrs. Ernest Bidwell.

In addition to the team, many members of Scioto, Scioto Valley, Saltcreek, Star and Washington Granges were present for the contest.

Landscaping Course Will Be Offered

A program, Landscaping for Homeowners, will be offered this spring by the Office of Continuing Education at the Lancaster Ohio U. campus.

The same course was offered in February and March at the Chillicothe branch campus, also in cooperation with the Co-Operative Extension Service.

The first session of the four part series offered at Lancaster will begin Mar. 22. Classes will be held each following Monday from 7:30-9:30 p.m.

The course content will consist of instruction in establishing, renovating and maintaining a lawn; selection, care and place of ornamentals, shrubs, trees, annuals, perennials in the landscape design and the identification and control of common insects.

Instructors for the program will be James Caldwell, James Martin, Dr. Richard Miller and Dr. Robert Miller. All are members of the Co-Operative Extension Service, the College of Agriculture at Ohio State University and are specialists in the subject matter areas.

Tuition for the non credit course will be minimal. If a couple chooses to attend the program, the second will only be charged half the individual price.

Registration can be completed at the Ohio University offices, in Lancaster. Enrollment should be completed by Mar. 19.

Further information or a brochure explaining the details of the program may be obtained by calling 654-6711, extension 37.

March Planned Against Boards In Columbus

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A march on the Ohio and Columbus Boards of Education offices has been called today by a coalition of black groups protesting what they term "severe racism" in the city's schools.

A NAACP spokesman said the coalition has urged parents and students to picket the city school board at 7 a.m. and the state board at 11 a.m. There are no plans to meet with school officials, the spokesman said.

The coalition said it considers racism the prime cause of recent unrest in the city's junior and senior high schools.

The NAACP has said it will file suit seeking to readmit all black students suspended from city schools as a result of the disorders.

Report Medina Will Testify About Events At My Lai

By HARRY F. ROSENTHAL, Associated Press Writer

FT. BENNING, Ga. (AP) — As the tale of My Lai's day of death unfolds at Lt. William Calley's murder trial, the name of Capt. Ernest Medina surfaces nearly as often as Calley's. This week Medina will reply, publicly and under oath, his lawyer says.

"He will testify," said one of his civilian lawyers, Lerald Alesh of Boston. "You can't incriminate yourself by telling the truth."

But a court source said Medina's lawyers had not informed Judge Reid Kennedy to that effect. The source said he doubted Medina would testify.

Calley swore that Medina, his company commander, gave orders to kill civilians in the assault on the suspected Viet Cong stronghold on March 16, 1968. The lieutenant is on trial on charges of premeditated murder in at least 102 of those deaths.

The Army has accused Medina of having over-all responsibility for what happened. And the captain's lawyers say formal referral to court-martial is imminent on specific charges that he killed 175.

Medina is one of a number of witnesses who will be called by the Calley jury when the prosecution ends its rebuttal case, probably Tuesday.

Another of Calley's superiors who said he would respond to the jury's call to testify is Col. Oran K. Henderson, who commanded the 11th Brigade.

When the story of May Lai first emerged more than 1½ years after the event, Medina held a news conference at the Pentagon.

"I did not see any slaughter at My Lai 4 that day," Medina said then, "and none was reported to me. And I'll further state that I did not order any massacre at My Lai 4."

Some three dozen witnesses have testified about a briefing Medina gave his Charlie Company on the eve of the search and destroy mission.

Schools Ask Recruits For Bus Program

The need for bus drivers, both for immediate employment and future use, has been noted by all four school districts in the county.

In an effort to obtain a pool of eligible school bus drivers Circleville City and Pickaway County Schools have arranged a special training course in cooperation with the State Department of Education.

Persons interested in operating school buses, either immediately or in the future, are invited to take the training beginning May 3 at Teays Valley High School. Trainees must complete 14 hours of instruction in the classroom and behind the wheel.

Kenny Reigel, a maintenance employee at Teays Valley, will instruct the course. He has received training certification from the state department.

REGISTRATION forms may be obtained at the offices of the City Superintendent, 520 S. Court St., the County Superintendent in the courthouse or from each local superintendent of Logan Elm, Westfall or Teays Valley Schools. Any interested person over 21 years of age may apply.

Deadline for submitting applications is Mar. 31. Enrollment at that time will determine if the class will be offered.

Taking the training does not insure a job. It does give an individual a head start in employment since superintendents will first consider those who are trained when a school bus driver is needed.

Policeman Faces Trial

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The trial of Columbus Patrolman Robert Morgan, accused of violating the civil rights of a burglary suspect, was scheduled to begin today in U.S. District Court.

Morgan, 34, allegedly shot and killed Charlie J. Cook in the basement of a West Side home Jan. 1, 1970. He was indicted last December by a federal grand jury on a charge of inflicting summary punishment on the black youth.

If convicted, he could be sentenced to life imprisonment.

A nine-year veteran, Morgan has been working in the police radio room for the past year.

said Medina decreed the death "of everything that breathed." Witnesses for the prosecution said there was no mention of women and children.

Other witnesses said that Medina at a command-level briefing received no such orders. Calley said Medina had told his officers and men that "all civilians had left the area, that there were no civilians in the area and that anyone left there was to be considered enemy."

U.S. Plans To Train Guards In Public Building Protection

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal government plans to enroll all building guards in an intensive training course designed to prevent further bombings and vandalism of its structures.

"This is obviously only a beginning," said Robert L. Kunzig, administrator of the General Services Administration, the federal landlord.

"Never in recent history has there been such a need as there is today to provide such a high level of protection in our federal facilities to insure the safety of personnel and to maintain a continuity of operation in government," he said.

Kunzig made the statement as the first class of building guards was graduated this weekend from the newly-established Federal Protective Service Training Academy in Washington.

Thirty-seven men, including Capitol Police who are still searching out the persons responsible for the bombing of the Capitol a week ago, received graduation certificates. They had completed a four-week course in marksmanship, fire prevention, explosives handling and arrest procedures.

The purpose of the academy is to transform the building guards into "an efficient police force," said Frank McKetta, former head of the Pennsylvania state police and chairman of a task force strengthening the Federal Protective Service.

The FPS is separate from the Executive Protection Service, an arm of the Secret Service, which protects the White House and embassies and buildings of foreign nations.

Academies are expected to be established in each of the GSA's 10 regions across the nation to train 3,700 federal building guards.

The explosion in the Capitol was one of five recorded this year in federal facilities, authorities said. Two other explosive devices were recovered before going off.

This compares with 27 bombings in federal facilities and six attempts during 1970, when a total of 773 bomb threats also were reported against federal facilities.

How The Weather Looks

OHIO WEATHER SUMMARY COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) —

Following is the Ohio weather summary from the National Weather Service:

Cold air continues to pour into the state around the large low pressure system centered over the northeast portion of the country, and the weather shows little inclination to change.

Snow flurries have been general over the state and are expected to continue today in northern portions, flurries will continue tonight and Tuesday.

Accumulations are possible in the northeast near Lake Erie. Travelers warnings are in effect in that portion of the state and two to four inches of new snow is forecast for the snow belt.

Six to eight inches of snow covered much of the snow belt early this morning with drifts of 3 to 5 feet. Elsewhere over the state snowfall amounted to an inch or less.

High temperatures Sunday showed little change from the early morning lows and ranged from 29 at Findlay and Mansfield to the mid 30s along the Ohio River. Temperatures early this morning were in the teens north and the low to mid 20s south.

Highs today are forecast mostly in the 20s and lows tonight in the teens.

FORECASTS

OHIO — Travelers warnings continued northeast. Snow flurries likely today and snow squalls northeast, with an additional accumulation of two to four inches in the snow belt.

Snow flurries north and partly cloudy south tonight and Tuesday. Highs today in the upper 20s and low 30s. Lows tonight in the teens. Highs Tuesday in the upper 20s north, 30s south.

New Jersey Mayor Finds Brotherly Love Still Needed

By CARL ZEIT, Associated Press Writer

TRENTON, N.J. (AP) — Many called him "nigger lover" in 1965 and voted him out of the mayor's office in 1966 because he moved his family to a black neighborhood.

But back as Trenton's chief executive again, Arthur Holland still believes that brotherly love—combined with legislation—is the best way of solving the nation's racial crisis.

"We need both love and legislation," he says, "though the more love the less need for legislation and the more love, the more effective our legislation will be."

Holland, now 53, was elected mayor in 1962, defeated in 1966 and reelected last June.

It was in 1965, that Holland, a former student for the priesthood, his wife and two daughters (he now has five children) moved his family to Trenton's South Ward on the Delaware River.

Holland said at the time he and his wife had been looking for a modest home in an area that would lend itself to the kind of renewal that reshaped the Georgetown section of Washington, D.C., a place Mrs. Holland is very fond of.

That the house was in a black neighborhood was not the point, said Holland, but it suited his firm belief in racial equality and added to the attraction of the house.

The following year he was defeated by Carmen Armenti who benefitted by, but did not make an issue of the racial issue heightened by the Holland family's new residence. Holland defeated Armenti in a rematch last June.

Even now, says Holland, "There are a lot of people in this city who don't think I live there. They consider it my political house and this is the un-

Churches Set Guest Speaker

First English Lutheran Church of Ashville will have as guest speaker during the 9:15 a.m. Sunday worship service, Miss Cornelia Jensen. Miss Jensen serves as a teacher on the mission field in Colombia, South America. She is a native of Canton, S.D. and has served as a missionary of the American Lutheran Church in Colombia since 1959.

The children of First English Lutheran Church will have an opportunity to hear her speak during the church school hour beginning 10:30 p.m.

Tuesday evening, March 16, Miss Jensen will speak at St. Paul Lutheran Church, Route 2, Ashville, beginning 7:30 p.m. kindest cut of all." Holland says the trouble has long passed and only an occasional comment serves to remind him of the heated anger and hate that greeted his move in 1965.

Holland said his is the only white family on his street while the neighborhood around his home is about 30 per cent black and also has some Puerto Rican families.

Trenton's 105,000 residents are 43 per cent black and seven per cent Puerto Rican. Though Trenton has been troubled by racial differences in the past few years—most recently by a school-busing controversy that turned to violence—Holland said he has not noticed personal problems for several years.

But the mayor says he has noticed a widening gap between whites and blacks and reaches back into his immediate personal experience to document it.

Ohio Posts 9 Traffic Deaths During Blustery Weekend

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Ohio posted nine traffic deaths this weekend, matching previous lows set twice during February.

Six of the deaths, including a double-fatality crash near Lancaster, occurred Saturday. One was chalked up Friday night and two Sunday.

The weekend count began 6 p.m. Friday and ended midnight Sunday.

Lows of nine deaths were also recorded Feb. 12-14 and Feb. 19-21.

This weekend's count brings to 140 the number of persons who have died in weekend traffic accidents in Ohio. The figure is six below the 1970 toll for the same period.

The dead:

FRIDAY
CLEVELAND — James D. Stewart, 17, of Euclid, of head injuries he received when a car struck him on Highland Road in Highland Heights.

SATURDAY
LANCASTER—Robert L. Cottrill, 19, of Baltimore, Fairfield County, and a passenger in his car, Judith Drumm, 13, of Pleasantville, when their car collided with another on Ohio 37 a mile north of Lancaster.

COLUMBUS—Mrs. Agnes M. Moder, 21, of Columbus, in an auto collision at an intersection on the city's west side.

CLEVELAND — Adrienne Pierce, 1, of Cleveland, when the car driven by her mother collided with two other cars on Granger Road in suburban Garfield Heights.

TROY—Douglas Griffith, 21, of Troy, when the car in which he was riding slammed into a concrete bridge abutment along Peters Road south of Troy.

CLEVELAND — Henry Sykes, 29, of Cleveland, in a three-car collision at the intersection of Ohio 87 and County Line Road in Hunting Valley.

SUNDAY
CLEVELAND — George Wright Jr., 32, when his car struck a tree on Biltmore Avenue in Cleveland.

LEXINGTON—Janet L. Reihl, 29, of Rt. 8, Lexington, the driver in a one-car accident on U.S. 42 just north of the Morrow-Richland county line.

Syria is primarily an agricultural nation, with about 34 per cent of the land under cultivation. The plain of Hauran in the south produces wheat, barley and other cereals. Fields and groves along the coast yield tobacco, cotton, peanuts, mulberries and olives. Around Homs, north of Damascus, sugarcane, beets and grapes flourish.
